

Kayaking

Separated from the ocean by a tiny strip of beach is the Tangalle Lagoon, a 2 mile stretch of inland water surrounded by mangroves and full of plant and animal life. Being so close to the sea it has a unique ecosystem.

The main lagoon is great for kayaking with the lagoon stretching south ending in a smaller marsh. This part of the lagoon is quieter than the main body and offers a more intimate experience.

The waterways are fringed by mangroves, filled with birds and animals including very large water monitor lizards. Early morning and evening are the best times.

You can go solo and just wander on the water or if you prefer, we can arrange a guide.
